CIVILIAN RIFLE CORPS.

THE news that civilians will be able to go in for rifle shooting and use the range of the National Guards, is good to hear. The formation of civilian rifle companies will, naturally, follow, and competitions that will keep up the interest in shooting at the butts will soon be started. The N. G. H. Company "I," in Wailuku, will have a fine new range before long, if all goes well. The old range was dangerous and it is thought that by constructing new butts in Kalua Valley, interest will be revived in target shooting and that civilians will also go in for the sport. Civilians can get rifles at factory cost and ammunition is also furnished at cost price. There is no doubt that many who do not care to join the N. G. H. will join the rifle club. In other countries the civilian rifle corps are a big feature and the annual big shoots draw competitors from all parts. The clubs are a good idea, and nearly every able-bodied man learns how to handle a rifle. That, in itself, is a splendid thing, and counts for much when the unfortunate time comes for men to defend their homes and families.

THE PEOPLE WILL ATTEND TO IT.

WHILE we all know there is "uncertainty regarding the future" in business lines and commercial affairs, there is one thing, however, that there is no uncertainty about, and that is that the people will promptly attend to that "uncertainty" at the next election. So buckle on your armor, boys. Throw away all petty differences and minor misunderstandings, rally 'round the flag and let every lover of the great and good things brought about by real statesmen of the past select from the common people another man of the Lincoln school and triumphantly place him at the head of the nation.—Moravian Falls (N. C.) Yellow Jacket.

The selection of E. C. Peters as head of the Oahu Baseball League is a good one. Mr. Peters will stand for no nonsense and, in future, there will be clean, decent baseball. In the past there has been a lack of backbone on the part of the management of the league, and the consequence has been that "rough house" stunts have been pulled off from time to time.

The three Maui men who achieved such excellent results in the examination lately held by the Inspector-Instructor of the N. G. H., are to be complimented on their showing.

Maui money will flow in Honolulu during the next week or so. It is to be hoped that some of the tourists who are attracted to Honolulu will find time to pay Maui a visit.
